SEO Metadata, URL Migration & 301 Redirection Audit Report

Audit Date: November 2026 • Scope: Production CMS & Master Sheet

> Audit Overview & Key Resolution
>
> This report provides a forensic analysis and complete resolution documentation for ApexChief's blog metadata, URL architecture, and 301 redirection systems. All 23 rewritten UAE articles, 13 category hubs, and 31 legacy URLs have been restructured according to Google search quality guidelines.

1. Executive Summary & Forensic Root-Cause Analysis

A comprehensive audit of the repository revealed three major structural failures that caused metadata and URLs to fail to reflect the spreadsheet's strategy:

- Excerpt Leakage as Meta Description: In `src/app/[category]/[slug]/page.tsx`, the Next.js metadata generator was hardcoded to `description: article.excerpt`. The `excerpt` field contained introductory story prose (e.g. "It is nine in the evening, the guests are due in an hour..."), which completely bypassed the high-CTR SEO Meta Descriptions created in the master sheet and Google Docs.
- Slug Retention (The Lazy Shortcut): When articles were updated with new UAE-focused content, the content team's new titles were copied into `articles.json`, but the `slug` field was left completely untouched. Articles about modern UAE grocery delivery retained URLs like `/automated-cold-chain-micro-fulfillment-groceries`, creating extreme semantic dissonance for search engine crawlers.
- Category Routing Mismatches: The space exploration article was categorized under `Health` (`/health/space-agencies...`), while banking and deep-tech sovereign fund articles were filed under `Real Estate` (`/real-estate/difc-vs-adgm...`).
- Dangerous Soft-404 Home Page Redirections: In `Blog Redirection sheet`, 12 deleted articles were configured to 301-redirect to the homepage (`https://www.apexchief.com/`). Google explicitly penalizes this as a Soft 404, discarding all accrued PageRank.

5. 301 Redirection Architecture & Soft-404 Mitigation

In `next.config.mjs`, two critical layers of redirection have been implemented:

1. Canonical Article Migration: Every legacy path (both `/news/[old-slug]` and intermediate paths like `/health/[old-slug]`) automatically issues a `301 Moved Permanently` response to `/[category]/[new-slug]`. Crawl budget and link juice are preserved with zero hop chains.
2. Category Redirection for Deleted Blogs (Avoiding Soft 404): The 12 articles marked orange in `Blog Redirection sheet` to be deleted have been mapped directly to their matching category landing page (e.g. `/category/technology`, `/category/business`, `/category/retail`) rather than the homepage, ensuring search engines pass authority to the relevant topic silo.
